Rosyth renewable energy plant

Members of the public are being invited to attend a public exhibition in Rosyth between 4 – 6 February to view new plans for a renewable energy plant at the Port of Rosyth.

FORTH ENERGY, a partnership between Scottish & Southern Energy and Forth Ports, has organised a series of public exhibitions which will enable the local community to find out more about plans for a state-of-the-art biomass renewable energy plant at the Port of Rosyth.

Forth Ports chief executive Charles Hammond said: "Scotland has the potential to be a real powerhouse in renewable energy and this modern plant will make a major contribution to meeting Scotland's energy needs in the decades ahead.

"Deep-water ports are the ideal locations for such developments, enabling sustainably-sourced softwood fuel to be transported directly to the plants by ship.

"This represents a fundamental improvement to the way we generate electricity and will place Rosyth at the forefront of helping to achieve the ambitious carbon reduction targets set out in the recent Climate Change (Scotland) Act."

Public Exhibition Dates

Rosyth

Rosyth Library, Parkgate, KY11 2JW

Thursday 4 February

4pm to 7pm

Friday 5 February

1pm to 5pm

Saturday 6 February

9.30am to 12pm

The proposed plant would have the capacity to generate clean, renewable electrical energy sufficient to power 160,000 homes and could also be capable of producing renewable heat.

Forth Energy is embarking on a series of public exhibitions which aim to:

- Allow local people to find out more about the project first hand
- Take on board local views and opinions
- Help refine and improve the forthcoming application for consent to build the plant.

Opportunity to make comments

Staff and members of the project team will be available to discuss the proposals and there will be an opportunity to make comments.

Please come along to the exhibition if you would like to find out more or visit
